About This Issue:

An issue dedicated to coatings and surfacings would appear to be long overdue, and it is. There is probably no other roof component that performs so much for so little cost. Moreover, omission of this component can have drastic effects on roof performance. In this issue, industry experts review topics ranging from the apparent color variation in shingles to the multiple properties of coating products.

THE ROOF CONSULTANTS INSTITUTE was chartered, in part, to bridge the gap between the seemingly disparate elements of the roofing profession. The goal of INTERFACE is to connect these elements, educate and inform about roofing-related topics, establish a common ground for discussion, promote Institute programs, and reach out to the industry at large. The articles contained in this publication are intended to provide information that may be useful to readers of Interface. RCI does not necessarily endorse this information. The reader must evaluate the information in light of the unique circumstances of any particular situation and independently determine its applicability. Entire contents, © RCI.
